Passionate and creative, my journey from photography to graphic design studies at the University West of England has shaped a diverse skill set. Ensuring projects blend aesthetic appeal with meaningful connections, I work in print, zines, moving images, and computer graphics. Fluent in English, French, and Filipino, with a background in German, I bring a unique cultural perspective to my work. Excelling in collaboration and valuing teamwork, I'm eager to apply my artistic flair and technical skills to new projects, anticipating the opportunities ahead.

Experience

- Volunteer Teacher - *The Daigo 3 Digital Project April 2021
 - Contributed significantly to the Daigo 3 Digital project, conducting live online classes in The Gambia for various age groups. Specialized in teaching visual art creation using GIMP, an alternative to Photoshop, and applying photography skills. Effectively collaborated within a large team to coordinate lessons and led graphic design sessions in smaller pairs.
- Commissioned Illustrations - *UWE Healthcare July 2021
 - As a collaborative duo, we partnered with a project manager to craft a visual representation, mapping the student journey for BAME groups in preparation for a workshop at UWE.
- Graphic Design Internship - *Mytton Williams November 2021
 - Through the Design Buddy scheme, I completed a one-week internship at Mytton Williams design studio in Bath. Here, I immersed myself in a professional work environment within the design field, actively contributing to various projects and playing a key role in the rebranding process for a company, from redesigning their logo to enhancing their website.
- Marketing Designer Internship - *Algebris March 2023
 - In March I started as a Marketing Designer at Algebris, an asset management firm. My responsibilities included designing brochures, presentations, and rewriting documents or media content in English, such as LinkedIn materials. Utilizing my UI skills, I designed for their charity's website. I also handled WordPress tasks for their main website and took charge of event products like cards, tags, and brochures. Additionally, I played a role in organizing podcasts.
